

PROSECUTOR'S JOB HANGS IN BALANCE

Noble Hays Is Given Final Notice to Straighten Up Or Impeachment Proceedings Will Follow.

FAILURE TO APPEAR IN COURT.

State Case is Set, But Prosecuting Attorney Neglects Duty And No Witnesses Are Subpoened.

Prosecuting Attorney, Noble T. Hays, has been given notice from "headquarters" that he will be permitted to continue in his present office only upon one condition—that he will properly attend to the duties of his office. Hays was told Wednesday afternoon that he could either resign or that he would be impeached if he did not quit drinking to excess and look after the duties of his office more carefully.

The notice came as a result of continued neglect of duty in that he was not able to prosecute the state case against A. Stage, which was set for trial Wednesday. Oscar Abel, who has been acting as deputy prosecutor in the police court, was notified to represent the state's interests in the Stage case, but when the case was called it was found that Hays had neglected to subpoena any witnesses and it was necessary to postpone the case until a later date. Judge Shea set the case for May 27th and adjourned court when it was found that the case could not be tried upon the day for which it was set.

In the case against Stage for assault and battery with intent to kill, the defendant was charged with having fired a gun in the direction of a crowd of children who were snowballing near Vallonia. One of the snowballs hitting, it is alleged, came very nearly hitting the defendant and it is said that he drew his gun and fired. None of the children were hurt but an affidavit was filed against Stage shortly after the trouble. Before the case could be properly prosecuted it was necessary that a number of witnesses to the shooting be summoned to appear in court, but Hays was negligent and failed to issue subpoenas for any of the witnesses. In the cases which have been prosecuted in the city court recently Hays has taken very little part. His deputy, Oscar Abel, has conducted the cases and performed all the work necessary for the preparation of the trials although Hays has frequently been present in court when the cases were tried.

Since the prosecuting attorney was arrested for intoxication several weeks ago he has neglected to perform his duty, as prosecutor and the time came when some action had to be taken. Yesterday was not the first time that a case has been dismissed because the prosecutor was not able to appear.

Members of Hays' party are much aroused over his action and the better class of Democrats are willing to assist in ousting him from office. In case he does not straighten up and refuses to hand in his resignation, it is understood that the members of the Bar Association will push the impeachment proceedings and that he will likely be disbarred from practicing in this county.

The prosecutor has not only neglected his duty in the Jackson circuit court but has been just as negligent in conducting state cases in Lawrence county. Most of the work of the prosecutor in that county has been done by his deputy and during the closing days of the last term Hays was not even present in court. The bar in Lawrence county as well as the citizens are incensed over Hays' conduct and it is understood here that if the prosecutor continues his present conduct, the Lawrence county people will take some action if the people of Jackson county fail to do so. If Hays is forced to resign or is ousted from office, it will not be because of his inability to properly prosecute the cases, but because of his utter neglect to look after matters which come within the scope of his office.

No definite time was given the prosecutor in which to straighten up and begin anew, but it is understood that the notice went into effect immediately and that better results will be expected from the prosecutor's office from this time.

CASE POSTPONED

Trial of Nona Robins Will be Held Sometime Next Week.

The case against Nona Robins for visiting a house of ill fame which was set for trial at 7 o'clock last night has been postponed until sometime next week. Several things which prevented the Mayor and the defendants attorney from holding an earlier trial were the causes for the postponement. The police officers summoned a number of the jurymen who appeared at the court ready for the trial. Now that the case has been postponed the officers will have all their work to do over again.

The case against Lon Vest and his wife for keeping a house of ill fame has been set for trial on Monday. These cases are the outcome of a recent raid which the officers made upon Vest's house which is located on Meyers Street.

MARRIED.

BLADES-DODDS.

William Blades of Linton and Miss Julia Dodds, a niece of J. E. Graham, were married Wednesday at the home of the bride in Paris, Ind. by Rev. Mr. Stevens. They came here in the afternoon accompanied by Miss Cora Deputy and L. Dodds and left after a short stay for Chicago for a wedding trip and will be at home after June 5 at Linton, where the groom is proprietor of the Blades Tailoring Stores.

The bride, who is a talented reader has frequently visited in Seymour and on several occasions has assisted in entertainments given here.

PURKHEISER-KELSO.

Harry Purkheiser and Miss Hester Kelso were quietly married this morning at 10 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Thomas Kelso, in North Vernon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Washburn of the First M. E. church and the guests were a few friends and the members of the family. A course dinner was served at the noon hour to the guests.

They came to Seymour at 2 o'clock this afternoon and will reside on East Second street, where the groom has a newly furnished house ready.

Mr. Purkheiser is a brakeman on the B. & O. and he and his bride have the best wishes of their friends.

DISBARMENT SUIT WILL BE REFILED

Proceedings Against Senator G. W. Long, Dismissed, But Case Will Be Taken Up Again.

TRIAL WAS SET FOR 31st OF MAY.

Attorneys Say That They Have New Evidence Which Will Be Incorporated in Second Complaint.

The disbarment proceedings instituted in the Bartholomew circuit court against Senator George W. Long, of this district, by Mrs. Mary A. Vawter, of Nashville, have been dismissed. The action was taken upon the motion of the attorneys for Mrs. Vawter who say that the case will be refiled later.

The case was set for May 31 but Mrs. Vawter's attorneys said that they would not be ready for the trial at that time. They also declare that additional new evidence has been secured against Long which will be incorporated in the new complaint to be filed.

Mrs. Vawter, who was the plaintiff in the case, is the wife of Will Vawter, a prominent Indianapolis artist, and is prominent in the suffrage movement. She alleged in her first complaint a number of sensational charges as the grounds for the disbarment of Senator Long.

One paragraph of the complaint alleged that in 1906 Thomas Durnall was an official of Brown county and that Senator Long informed him that he was to be indicted for embezzlement. It was averred that Durnall employed Long to defend him, and that afterwards Durnall was indicted by the grand jury. When the trial was called, however, Long appeared as prosecuting attorney, it was stated, and divulged secrets which Durnall had given him as his client. Durnall

B. & O. Railroad Adopts New Method on This Division For Train Dispatching.

SELECTORS WILL BE INSTALLED

Dispatcher Can Call One Station Without Signalling Another on Same Line.

The Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern Railroad has completed arrangements for equipping its lines with telephones for train dispatching. A number of the railroad companies are using the telephones for the purpose of sending dispatches and have found the system more satisfactory than the telegraph which has been in use for many years.

The regular force of operators and dispatchers will be retained in the local offices and the telegraph lines will be kept in repair so that they can be used in cases of emergency, when if for any reason the telephone equipment should get out of order.

At each station a telephone will be installed and the operator or agent will have direct connection with the dispatcher. A number of concrete telephone booths have been distributed along the system and will be placed at the various sidings. A telephone will be installed in each booth so that the members of the train crew may receive orders from the dispatcher when the train is between stations.

The telephones will be installed between Cincinnati and Washington and also on the branch line extending from North Vernon to Louisville.

The type of equipment which will be installed makes use of Western Electric telephone apparatus which have been adopted by the majority of the railroads which have installed the telephone dispatching system. The

HOUSE BURNED

Residence of Alonzo Harris is Destroyed by Fire.

The residence of Alonzo Harris on West Oak Street was destroyed by fire early this morning. The fire department received the call about midnight and made a quick run to the residence but when they arrived there they found the house entirely filled with smoke. Two lines of hose were used in extinguishing the blaze.

The origin of the fire is somewhat of a mystery as it seems to have started on the east side of the house in a closet. A lamp was left burning on the west side of the house and this was the only means that the house could have caught on fire from the interior.

Mr. Harris was awakened by the blaze and the smoke and had no time to remove any of the furniture. The house was sealed but not plastered and burned rapidly. It is estimated that his loss will be about $400.00 on the house and $100.00 on the household goods. He carried insurance to the amount of $200.

The adjoining house belonging to Mrs. John Lamb was also damaged by the blaze. One side of the house and part of the roof was burned and the loss is about $100. The small store room belonging to Eudarias Harris was scorched by the blaze. All of the show cases and merchandise were carried from the store as it was feared the building would be destroyed.

PRESIDENT TELLS WHY HE IS IN FIGHT

Tells Ohio People That He Was Forced to Take Stump to Refute Misrepresentations.

MAKES HIS POSITION CLEAR

Taft Declares That He Regrets Bitter Campaign But is Willing to Meet Unfounded Accusations.

Cleveland, May 16.—President Taft spent today in Cleveland. It was his fourth consecutive day of speech making in his home state. The President slept late in his private car, which reached Cleveland at 1:30 a. m., and was immediately switched to the Lake Shore tracks in Gordon park. It was to be a day of comparative rest for the President. Two talks in factory districts this morning and a mass meeting tonight formed the program.

In his speeches the President made it plain that it is Roosevelt's personalities that forced him to go on the stump to refute false charges and defend his administration.

"It is only the unprecedented circumstances created by my opponent and predecessor," he said, "that make it necessary for me, the President, to appear on the political stump. It is one of the chief indictments that I have to present against him that he is responsible for this unprecedented spectacle."

In refuting Roosevelt's charge that he is a reactionary he presented the record of progressive legislation, closing the showing with: "I think that man is the best progressive who is able to show works of progress rather than the man who is always only talking progress."

"Mr. Roosevelt now says that he does not want to indulge in personalities with me," said the President in his Bucyrus address. "Having called me everything in the category of bad names that are mentioned in polite society, he now wishes to indulge in less emphatic expressions. Well, I don't want to bandy any epithets with him, but I do wish to meet his unfounded accusations."

was convicted and when a motion for a new trial was made it was resisted by Long, the complaint said.

Another paragraph of the complaint stated that Long filed suit in the Brown circuit court upon behalf of B. H. Rains against a number of defendants to foreclose a mechanics lien. Mrs. Vawter further alleged that later Long appeared as attorney for Benjamin Walker, a defendant and thus served as attorney for the plaintiff and one co-defendant, and that the parties interests were not similar.

In another paragraph she stated that William Volland filed a suit against her to foreclose a mechanics lien and that the case was decided in favor of the plaintiff and against her. Her attorneys, she declares, notified Long that a motion for a new trial would be filed, but that the Senator took steps to have the property sold at once and that in behalf of Mr. Volland, Long purchased the property.

In still another paragraph of the complaint she alleged that William H. Pittman, formerly clerk of Brown county filed a claim for moneys alleged to be due him. Mrs. Vawter asserted that Long filed the claim, but was afterwards appointed county attorney and in that capacity resisted the payment of the money. The case was later venued to the Bartholomew circuit court, where Long, without the knowledge of the county commissioners, advised a judgment of $1,000 in favor of Pittman.

FACE AND SCALP SORE

Result of Neglected Eczema.—This Is Preventable.

Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

Failure to treat eczema of the face early, or the wrong kind of treatment, almost certainly results in spreading and aggravating the complaint.

We have seen cases where the face and scalp had become one continuous sore, due to the violent itching and scratching.

Fortunately this need not happen now, for our new skin remedy, Saxon Salve, allays the itching so that the skin is no longer lacerated by the finger-nails. And it sinks into and saturates the skin so thoroughly, and is so wonderfully healing in its nature that it kills all germ life in the skin and promotes a speedy cure.

All who have a skin affection of any kind, eczema, barber's itch, ivy poisoning or any eruption, and try Saxon Salve at our risk and if the results are not wholly satisfactory we give back the money. At the Andrews Drug Co., Seymour, Ind.

MORGAN ROBERTSON.

Interesting Career of the Author of "The Wreck of the Titan."

Morgan Robertson, the novelist who fourteen years ago wrote the prophetic romance "The Wreck of the Titan" and is, besides, the author of a long series of popular sea stories, is a thoroughgoing sailor and has acquired his "local color" in most of the seven seas. He is the son of an old time skipper of the great lakes, and his inherited love of ships took him at the age of sixteen aboard the Boston ship Ringleader on a voyage to Shanghai. He remained with her until he reached Liverpool, where he shipped on another boat for New York. After that he sailed the lakes for a season and for the next seven or eight years varied his sailing experience between fresh and salt water cruises. Mr. Robertson gives a suggestion of the hard knocks received in his sailor days in some remarks of his about discipline.

"I served a long time before the mast," he says, "and during that service got kicked and cuffed into me such deep respect for authority that I can never meet a big brute of a second mate to this day—never meet anything that is labeled ship's officer—but I want to say to him 'Aye, sir,' and stand around for him. I got to be a mate myself, but the habit had got ground into me long before that, and it sticks. And I was not naturally too respectful of authority either. Even now, after twenty years away from the sea, as soon as I step on a ship I feel abject. I cringe before anybody with the voice of command."

But Mr. Robertson's experiences include many more than those of the sailor's life. He left the sea and learned the trade of watchmaking and, having become expert in that branch of the jeweler's calling, developed into a successful diamond setter. It was during his later years in the jewelry business that he turned his attention to magazine writing, and in a few years he had made a reputation as one of the best writers of sea stories.

Among his best known works are "A Tale of a Halo," "Spun Yarn," "Masters of Men," "Shipmates," "Down to the Sea" and "Sinful Peck."

Like Jules Verne and H. G. Wells, Robertson has the knack of making his tales of adventure so real and circumstantial that his readers are prepared to learn that some of his imaginings have "come true." The remarkable fulfillment of his forecast of a great sea tragedy had a less conspicuous parallel in his engagement by a submarine boat company to develop the ideas set forth in one of his stories, "The Submarine Destroyer."

Mr. Robertson has given his notion of story writing as a sort of self-hypnotism. "You've got to get hypnotized by your idea," he says, "before you can get enough above yourself to write anything at all worth printing, and there's always the danger of that sort of thing going too far—going so far you can't get back." So he thinks Joseph Conrad writes his sea stories and Kipling and others dream stories that none of them could do if wide awake. "They are hypnotized by the men and women who are suffering the reality, though they may not know at all who these men and women are. So Victor Hugo got the stuff for his tales of horror, and so do all who do any creative work get their stuff, or some of it. And each and every one risks losing his individuality in the process. Ordinary mechanical brain work, adding up figures or composing English, tires the brain, to be sure, but does not hypnotize it as creative work does—does not uncouple it, as it were, from your own identity."

apparatus is known as a selector, and as the name implies is an instrument so designated that when properly adjusted it will respond only to certain electrical signals or impulses which are regulated by the train dispatcher. The latter, can, therefore, signal any one of the way stations at which these selectors are located without signalling any of the others on the same line.

There will actually be three distinct sets of wires—each set of two forming a "circuit"—paralleling each other, one called a "train wire" for transmitting nothing but orders in regard to the handling of trains; another called a "message" wire for the transaction of miscellaneous railway business between division and intermediate points and for sending time to various towers to check the accuracy of the clocks, as slight differences in time might easily result in serious accidents, and a third circuit called a "block wire" used to enable the block tower men to get into easy and quick communication with each other. A feature of the message circuit is that it is arranged for "intercalling," or, in other words, way-stations can call each other without calling in the train dispatcher.

There will be one hundred way stations at which selectors are to be installed to cover a stretch of approximately 250 miles, which resolves itself into what might be termed over 800 miles of circuit for train, message and block service.

The many advantages accruing from the use of the telephone instead of the telegraph for the dispatching of trains, were responsible for its adoption. The telephone, in the first place, is quicker. It has been observed that the ring of the bell will insure a prompt answer, and for this purpose large, so-called "extension" bells are used, which can be heard several hundred feet away. In the four years that the telephone has been used for dispatching, not a railroad accident has been laid to its door, so that it may be said to be as safe as, if not safer than, the telegraph. Furthermore, it has been made possible to increase the length of a division handled by one dispatcher by as much as 50 per cent.

The telephone, making possible, as it does, direct personal communication by word of mouth between the dispatcher and the men under him, has the effect of a hearty handclasp every time it is used. A spoken sentence, even when an order, is definitely more inspiring and impressive than a succession of cold and formal dots and dashes, and it is this "human" feature as much as any other which has made for the success of the telephone as an improver of discipline and increase of efficiency on railroad systems.

DISTRICT CONVENTION

Meeting of W. H. M. S. Will be Held Here May 17.

The annual district meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist church will be held in this city tomorrow. The Seymour district is composed of a number of counties in Southern Indiana and arrangements are being made for a number of visitors.

The convention will convene in the morning at 10 o'clock. The afternoon session will be called at 1:30 o'clock. An interesting program has been arranged for both sessions. The morning meeting will be taken up with the reports of the various committees and other business of the society.

In the afternoon a number of interesting addresses will be given. The address of welcome will be given by Mrs. R. O. Mayes, president of the local society, and Mrs. E. F. Schneider, of Brownstown will respond. Rev. W. E. Edkins of Franklin will give an address upon the subject, "Non-Christian Faiths of America." "Glimpses of Home Work in the West" is the subject of the address of Dr. D. L. Thomas. An excellent musical program has been arranged.

The public is invited to attend the meetings which will be held at the M. E. church.

WEEDS EXPENSIVE

Cause Loss of Over Fifteen Million Dollars to Indiana People.

The annual loss to the people of Indiana from weeds is $15,509,330, declares former State Geologist W. S. Blatchley in a publication just from the press, called "The Indiana Weed Book." That great loss, the author asserts, falls almost wholly on the farmer, who, "while he spends most of his years in fighting weeds, knows too little about them."

Mr. Blatchley describes the worst weeds of the state and gives the most practicable methods for their control and eradication. That the great East and West lines of railways passing through Indiana are responsible for the wide distribution of many weeds is the assertion of the author. The Roman thistle, prickly lettuce, Canada thistle and Texas nettle are among the pests, which have been spread by the railroads, he says.

The seeds of the weeds are carried either in the coats of sheep or cattle, in hay or in the bedding on the floor of the cars, the author declares. Animals of many sorts are weed seed carriers. Birds, eating many of the berries and seed pods of weeds, also spread the seeds throughout a locality.

Many weeds love company, the author writes, and typical weeds of that character are the knotgrass, black medic, wiregrass, dogfennel, ribwort and prickly sida, found along roadsides and cowpaths. Weeds rob the soil of much plant food and of moisture, crowd out and shade cultivated plants, increase the cost of producing crops by taking labor to keep them in subjection, cause a great wear on farm machinery, frequently cause an unprofitable change in the rotation of crops, furnish very little pasture for stock and furnish food or hibernating places for injurious insects, the author points out.

Weeds in cities and towns gather dust, harbor bacteria and are undesirable for many other reasons, the "weed" book explains. Among the many rules given for exterminating weeds Mr. Blatchley classifies the following: Sowing clean seed, rotation of crops, keeping weeds from ripening seeds, burning over stubble or fallow fields, plowing ground in the autumn, elimination of many fences, keeping farm machinery clean, the use of sheep in weed fighting, increasing the fertilization or drainage, protecting seed eating birds, making botany a common school study.

The study of weeds used in medicine is another topic to which the author pays attention, and he declares that a number of our most noxious weeds possess valuable medicinal qualities. A classification of the weeds in Indiana takes up the greater part of the book.

REVIEW OF CASES

Several New Cases Have Been Filed in The Circuit Court.

The past few days have been rather busy ones in the Jackson circuit court. A number of new cases have been filed and several causes have been determined. A review of the cases follows:

State vs. Ulysses G. Glidewell, issuing fraudulent check; continued until next term and set for trial October 15.

State vs. Charles Wiggins, larceny. This case was tried before a jury, but at the conclusion of the trial it was dismissed upon motion of the prosecuting attorney. Under the charge the case should have been filed in Washington county.

State vs. Raymond Haley, drawing deadly weapons, dismissed.

State vs. Arthur Henderson, petit larceny; dismissed as defendant is serving prison sentence.

State vs. George Austin, burglary; dismissed as defendant is serving prison sentence.

Virgil Jackson vs. Josephine Jackson; divorce, dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

Nancy J. Johnson vs. George M. Johnson; divorce; dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

James E. Baird, assignor, R. L. Mosley, assignee; set for trial May 23.

Garret F. Schepman, et al, ex parte petition for drain; set for May 23.

NEW CASES.

THESE SIX LETTERS From New England Women

Prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Does Restore the Health of Ailing Women.

Boston, Mass.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from hemorrhages (sometimes lasting for weeks), and could get nothing to check them. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound (tablet form) on Tuesday, and the following Saturday morning the hemorrhages stopped. I have taken them regularly ever since and am steadily gaining."

"I certainly think that every one who is troubled as I was should give your Compound Tablets a faithful trial, and they will find relief."—Mrs. GEORGE JUBY, 802 Fifth Street, South Boston, Mass.

Letter from Mrs. Julia King, Phoenix, R.I.

Phoenix, R.I.—"I worked steady in the mill from the time I was 12 years old until I had been married a year, and I think that caused my bad feelings. I had soreness in my side near my left hip that went around to my back, and sometimes I would have to lie in bed for two or three days. I was not able to do my housework."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me wonderfully in every way. You may use my letter for the good of others. I am only too glad to do anything within my power to recommend your medicine."—Mrs. JULIA KING, Box 282, Phoenix, R.I.

Letter from Mrs. Etta Donovan, Willimantic, Conn.

Willimantic, Conn.—"For five years I suffered untold agony from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It was impossible for me to walk up stairs without stopping on the way. I was all run down in every way."

"I tried three doctors and each told me something different. I received no benefit from any of them but seemed to suffer more. The last doctor said it was no use for me to take anything as nothing would restore me to health again. So I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see what it would do, and by taking seven bottles of the Compound and other treatment you advised, I am restored to my natural health."—Mrs. ETNA DONOVAN, 762 Main Street, Willimantic, Conn.

Letter from Mrs. Winfield Dana, Augusta, Me.

Augusta, Me.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured the backache, headache, and the bad pain I had in my right side, and I am perfectly well."—Mrs. WINFIELD DANA, R.F.D. No. 2, Augusta, Me.

Letter from Mrs. J. A. Thompson, Newport, Vt.

Newport, Vt.—"I thank you for the great benefit Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I took eight bottles and it did wonders for me, as I was a nervous wreck when I began taking it. I shall always speak a good word for it to my friends."—Mrs. JOHN A. THOMPSON, Box 3, Newport Center, Vermont.

Letter from Miss Grace Dodds, Bethlehem, N.H.

Bethlehem, N.H.—"By working very hard, sweeping carpets, washing, ironing, lifting heavy baskets of clothes, etc., I got all run down. I was sick in bed every month."

"This last Spring my mother got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and already I feel like another girl. I am regular and do not have the pains that I did, and do not have to go to bed. I will tell all my friends what the Compound is doing for me."—Miss GRACIE B. DODDS, Box 133, Bethlehem, N.H.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

DANES ACCLAIM THEIR NEW KING

Prince Christian Is Proclaimed
Ruler of Denmark.

SAD SHOCK TO THE NATION

Death of King Frederick While Traveling Abroad Found His People Wholly Unprepared For the News of
His Sudden Death at Hamburg—
Council of State Has Called Extraordinary Session of the Parliament.

Copenhagen, May 16.—In the presence of a vast concourse of people who had gathered in the square in front of the royal palace, Christian X. was proclaimed king of Denmark on the balcony of the palace at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The reading of the proclamation
was hailed with a loud cheer from the enormous crowd. The national anthem was also sung. Throughout the day the church bells of the city were tollled. At the palace many telegrams
of condolence from chiefs of state
have arrived, including one from President Taft.

An extraordinary meeting of the council of ministers was called on receipt of news of King Frederick's death
in Hamburg, and orders were issued
for an extraordinary session of parliament.

Flags were flying, bunting was in profusion and everything teemed with
the gaiety of a gala day when Prince Christian of Denmark rode from his stables yesterday morning for his daily
ride to the country. He returned
an hour later to see flags at half mast
and the deepest black rapidly replacing the festive decorations.

"Why have they lowered the flags
to half staff?" asked the prince.

"Your royal highness," replied a breathless courier, who had ridden
madly to meet him, "the king is dead."
"Long live the king," he added, respectfully, as the shock showed plainly in the face of the new monarch. It was the first intimation his father was dead, and Christian, rushing to the palace, was overcome with grief.

The new king of Denmark is forty-
two years old. In 1898 he married Princess Alexandrine of Mecklenburg.
He is a brother-in-law of the crown prince of Germany. Through marriage
the reigning family of Denmark is connected with practically all of the royal families of Europe.

Following the meeting of the council orders were issued for the returning of the body of the dead king. The king's ship, the Dannebrog, received a rush command, and in a short time left for Lubeck. The ship will carry the body of the dead king to Copenhagen. The ship is expected to return
Friday. This is the first time that a Danish king has died abroad since 1103.

GLOOM IN EUROPE

Courts Thrown Into Mourning Over
Death of Denmark's King.

London, May 16.—The death of the king of Denmark will plunge the English court into mourning for the second time this year, just following the Duke of Fife obsequies. It will also probably upset the whole course of the London season. It will prevent the king and queen from fulfilling their social and public functions for some time and will cause some of the leading hostesses to abandon their entertainments for the near future. The sympathy of the country will go out to Queen Mother Alexandra, sister of the dead monarch, who was just beginning to emerge from her long seclusion since the death of King Edward two years ago. Practically her first public appearance was at Hammerstein's opera house recently, and it was only two days ago that she visited the opera for the first time since
the death of her husband.

William Going to Copenhagen.
Berlin, May 16.—The Kaiser and Crown Prince Frederick William have gone to Hamburg to pay their tribute to the dead monarch. The Kaiser will attend the funeral at Copenhagen.

MORE MORTGAGES

Statistics For Indiana Show a Considerable Increase.

Indianapolis, May 16.—Reports from
all the county recorders of the state,
compiled by the state bureau of statistics, show that in 1911 there were 104,926 mortgages of all kinds filed in the state, an increase over the number filed in 1910 of 222. The value of the mortgages filed in 1911 was $128,- 299,857, or $21,985,417 less than the preceding year.

Eighty-two thousand three hundred
and two mortgages were paid in 1911.
This was ninety-nine fewer than were paid in 1910. The value of the satisfied mortgages of 1911 was $87,504,732,
or $21,540,300 more than the value of
those satisfied in 1910.

DETAILS OF BATTLE ARE MUCH CONFUSED

Mexican Reports Conflict All
Along the Line.

El Paso, Tex., May 16.—The federal army at Torreon now sees rebels in front and behind. The rebels also are reported to have commands on each
flank and declare that their threat to bottle up the federals has been accomplished. The federals admit that General Campa's command of 1,500
men has succeeded in reaching Valardena, eighty-five miles southwest of Torreon, in their rear, but deny that the rebels took Mapimi and that they have large numbers of flankers there.
Emilio Madero, uncle of the Mexican president, admitted that the arrival of Campa in the rear of Huerta
is giving the federal commander concern, and that Huerta has telegraphed to Mexico City for reinforcements, not that Huerta fears being captured, he says, but because he does not wish to be delayed in his march north by
having to stop to fight the flankers.
Huerta wants the force sent from the national capital to take care of these.
The rebels continued to reiterate their capture of Mapimi and the federals
continue to deny it, though the rebels
say they have no additional information of the capture of Raul Madero.

Train Robbers Get Rich Loot on the Queen & Crescent.

Hattiesburg, Miss., May 16.—Two masked robbers held up a Queen &
Crescent limited passenger train, northbound, near Hattiesburg. They dynamited the safe in the express car, and, after looting it, escaped on horseback. The loot is variously estimated at from $50,000 to $150,000.
Express companies admit at least $35,- 000 was taken.

One package missing contained $40,- 000 and another $100,000, members of the crew say. The money is said to have been consigned to St. Louis, New York and Chicago banks. Posses have found no trace of the bandits. The passengers on the train were not molested.

TENNESSEE IRON WAS NOT BROKE

Company Far From Helpless
When Gobbled Up.

THE FACTS ARE COMING OUT

Government's Contention That Helpless Company Which Fell Into Grip
of Steel Trust in 1907 Was Not in the Condition the "Panic Busters" Declared It Was, Sustained on the Witness Stand.

New York, May 16.—In the hearing
of the government's suit against the United States Steel corporation, with John A. Topping, chairman of the Republic Iron and Steel company on the stand, Special Assistant Attorney General Dickinson was in general
successful in his effort to sustain the government's assertion that the Tennessee Iron and Railroad company was not altogether in a helpless condition
when it was taken over by the steel trust in 1907. Skillfully handled by the federal counsel, Mr. Topping, who was at that time chief executive of the Tennessee company, testified to the extent of the holdings of that company, to their condition, to the increasing business that was being done
and the peculiar conditions under which iron could be produced more cheaply than elsewhere in this country.

The witness stated that after he took charge of the property about $8,000,000 had been expended in its rehabilitation. It was, he said, next to the United States Steel corporation,
the largest holder of mineral lands in the country. And notwithstanding the fact that a freight rate of $4 to $5 per ton had to be paid for the 50 per cent
of its product which was shipped north of the Ohio river, its pig iron could be put down in Cincinnati or towns in the lake district as cheaply as the Pittsburg product. The reason for this he attributed to the cheapness
with which the raw products could be assembled in Birmingham.

Under cross-examination by Richard
V. Lindabury, counsel for the defense,
Mr. Topping reiterated that he became a member of the syndicate controlling the Tennessee company with
the sole idea of developing the property and making money out of the development. His first knowledge that the sale of the company was contemplated came at the memorable meeting in Mr. Morgan's library. At this point the witness created some amusement, describing that historic meeting and its seriousness, by a reference to the impressiveness of a huge
collection of Bibles in the same room.
Asked by Judge Dickinson if the presence of the Bibles was responsible for the seriousness of the occasion, Mr.
Topping responded that their association had something to do with it.

In reply to the direct question, Mr.
Topping said that he had sold his interest because he did not wish to remain a minority stockholder. Asked whether Mr. Frick or Judge Gary or anyone connected with the steel corporation had anything to do with bringing about the situation which resulted in the sale of the stock, he replied that he did not think at the time
that such was the case, and did not think so today.

San Diego, Cal., May 16.—Rage of citizens of this place against Industrial Workers of the World and all who preach Socialism, was vented
against Dr. Benjamin Reitman, manager of Emma Goldman. He was taken to a ranch near this city by the citizens committee, which has been deporting Industrial Workers of the World, tarred and feathered and branded with the letters "I. W. W."
Miss Goldman was escorted to the train and ordered to leave town.
Reitman is severely burned. His condition is reported serious. Emma went to Los Angeles.

NO NEED OF "TRUST" TO SAVE THE PROFITS

Plenty of Money for All In the Sugar Business.

New York, May 16.—The government put on the stand in the federal building Ernest Gerbracht, who for many years up to 1909 was superintendent of the Havemeyer & Elder refinery in Williamsburg, in an attempt to disprove the contention of the defendants in the sugar trust dissolution
suit that the alliance of sugar companies effected in 1887 was necessary
because the companies acting independently were ruining one another
by cutthroat competition. Gerbracht
is under sentence of two years in the Atlanta penitentiary and a fine of $5,- 000 for complicity in the sugar weighing frauds, but execution of the sentence has been delayed because he was needed as a federal witness in the present suit.

Gerbracht, by quoting conversations
that he had with officers of some of the eight sugar companies that were operating independently along the Brooklyn shore of East river prior to 1887, indicated his belief that even the least efficient of them was making a good profit.

Their Demurrers Overruled.

Stamford, Conn., May 16.—Formal
demurrers of G. S. Wilson and DeForest
Moore, the Stamford Trust employees, were overruled in the city
court. Judge Young found probable cause and bound the accused men over
for trial in the September term of the superior court. The bond was fixed at $40,000 in the case of Wilson, who is charged with embezzlement of $46,- 055 and $10,000 in the case of Moore,
who is charged with embezzling $11,- 632.

Colonel Roosevelt declares that his fight for the nomination for president is won. He says he is now sure he will be nominated on the first ballot.

CIVIC SOCIETY INVESTIGATING

Alleged Election Frauds Not Going Unchallenged.

STIRRING UP AT TERRE HAUTE

Recent Charges Which Neither of the Interested Factions Seems Willing to Press Into Court Will Be Taken Up by Newly Organized Civic Organization, Which Expresses Determination to Go to Bottom of Scandal.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 16.—The
new Vigo County Nonpartisan Voters'
league will raise money to investigate
the charges of fraud in the primary election last week. "It is certain
there will be an investigation," said
Ira Andrews, president of the league.
"The league was organized only a few days before the election and had decided to take no active part in the way of safeguarding the balloting, but
the scandal is such that the league
leaders believe they can accomplish
something by making an investigation."

DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Domestic Differences Lead to Wife
Murder and Suicide.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 16.—Holding
his wife, Matilda, forty-three years old,
to him with his arm around her neck,
Charles Myles, fifty-two years old, a teamster, pressed a revolver against
her heart and fired, killing her instantly. As the woman fell from his arms,
Myles turned the weapon on himself,
inflicting wounds in his lungs and head
from which he died at a hospital an hour later.

Three small grandchildren of the dead witnessed the tragedy, and the mother fell at the feet of her married daughter. The father fell with his head in the arms of the woman he had killed.

The tragedy ended the third attempt of Myles to kill his wife because she had refused to live with him following their ejectment from their home a few days ago. She left him when he failed to provide for her and went to live with a daughter, at whose home
the shooting took place.

S. O. S. SIGNAL

"Dog Face," Gary Election Slugger,
Sounds a Cry For Help.

Gary, Ind., May 16.—Appeals for assistance have reached the Gary city
hall from Michael Yocovitch, otherwise known as Dog Face, the election
slugger, who is now in New York.
According to the story given out, Dog
Face started to do up a Gotham policeman. The result was disastrous to Dog Face, and he now seeks money to get out of jail.

After being released from Crown
Point jail, where he was confined following his attempt to shoot Sheriff Grant, Dog Face returned to Gary, became a special policeman, but lost his star when he slugged a woman. He was then banished by the police to New York. Nothing save a laconic message that he would return to Gary
for the November election had been heard of him until the appeal for aid.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

Latest Traction Deal Causes Considerable Conjecture.

Indianapolis, May 16.—The Honey
Bee traction line, forty-five miles long,
extending from Indianapolis to Newcastle, has been sold to the Indianapolis, Newcastle & Northeastern Traction
company, recently incorporated
by a local brokerage firm. While opinion in traction and financial circles seems to be divided as to what traction system ultimately is to take over the road, speculation advancing
the possibility of the Union Traction
of Indiana, the T. H. I. & E., and even
of the McKinley lines of Illinois having a hand in the purchase, it is evident that the opinion is stronger that the consolidated Union Traction company is back of the new deal. The consideration given in the deed is $900,000.

Uncle Sam Investigating.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 16.—It is believed about one hundred veteran soldiers have been swindled out of $25
each by Colorado land agents, Edward Creal of this city, who went to Colorado to make an investigation,
says claims were not filed by the agents. Full details of the alleged swindle have been asked by the federal government.

Daughter Identified Body.

Sullivan, Ind., May 16.—The body of Frank M. Hiatt, one of the men killed when the Dixie Flyer, northbound on the C. & E. L., sideswiped a freight on the siding at Smith's station, has been identified by Mrs. Roy Ransford of near this city, as her father. The body
will be brought here for burial.

Suicide of a Woman.

Crawfordsville, Ind., May 16.—Despondent because of ill health, Mrs.
James Smith, aged about sixty, committed suicide by cutting her throat
with a razor.

REV. J. F. CARSON

Moderator of Presbyterian
General Assembly Presides.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Northern Presbyterians Gather on the Southern Banks of the River.

Louisville, Ky., May 16.—The 124th
general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, which is the title of the northern division of that denomination, convened here today.

The most prominently mentioned
candidates for the moderatorship are
the Rev. Dr. Frank W. Sneed of Pittsburg, the Rev. Dr. Mark Matthews of Seattle, and the Rev. Dr. James G. K.

CLARENCE S. DARROW DENIES INDICTMENT

Lawyer Declares He Is Innocent
of Wrongdoing.

Los Angeles, May 16.—Clarence S.
Darrow, chief counsel for the McNa-
mara brothers in the dynamiting case,
and one of the most widely known
criminal lawyers in the United States
is on trial before Judge George Hutton
in the superior court under an indictment charging him with having attempted to bribe a juror in the McNamara trial. Darrow said he was innocent of any wrongdoing. The prosecution is in charge of District Attorney John D. Fredericks, who conducted the McNamara prosecution, and who says that the evidence against Darrow is as strong as it was against the McNamaras.

White Working on Miners.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 16.—Plans of National President John P. White, to show the United Mine Workers the danger and folly of turning down the tentative offer of the operators, have been set in motion at the tri-district convention here. The national chief and his lieutenants have started in earnest to show the miners in general
the weakness of the union numerically and financially, and the possibilities
of wrecking the organization by re-
pudiating the officers.

Had Double Row of Teeth.

Tacoma, Wash., May 16.—Skeletons
of prehistoric people were found in an excavation at Ellensburg, twenty feet below the surface. The skulls showed practically no forehead, sloping sharply back from the eye socket. One skull contained a complete double row
of teeth in the upper jaw. One of the skeletons is six feet eight inches high.

PROSECUTION WILL FOLLOW

Railroad Company Will Aid in Punishing Murderer of R. E. Boswell.

The officials of the Texas and Pacific Railroad have announced that they will aid in the prosecution of Marshall M. Hays former switchman, who shot and fatally wounded Ralph E. Boswell, superintendent of the Terminal at Fort Worth, Texas, a few days ago. Hays is still held at the county jail at Fort Worth, and it is expected that his case will be taken up within a short time.

Hays shot Superintendent Boswell with a 25-35 rifle, the bullet passing entirely through Boswell's body and striking his stenographer who was sitting on the opposite side of the room. The stenographer is reported to be in a serious condition although it is believed that he will recover.

For some time the Railroad Company had been aware that a systematic method of stealing was being followed and many articles of freight had been taken from the cars during the last few months. Superintendent Boswell instructed a special agent to make an investigation of the robbery and it is stated that evidence was procured which showed that Hays was implicated in the robberies. Mr. Boswell called the switchman to his office and informed him that evidence had been secured against him and asked him to tell all he knew about the robbery. Hays appeared in the superintendent's office on the following day and made a written confession which implicated him in the theft. Hays was at once discharged by the Superintendent. A few days later he came into Mr. Boswell's office and with a rifle pointed at the Superintendent calmly stating that he had come to make a settlement. Boswell told him that he must be mistaken and just as he arose from his chair, Hays fired the shot.

A son of Mr. J. M. Mack who holds a position as chief clerk under Mr. Boswell was in the office at the time the tragedy occurred.

It seems that Hays had premeditated the murder of Superintendent Boswell and the Railroad Company will use every effort to see that he is properly punished for his deed.

FRANCHISE IS NOT GIVEN PROMOTERS

Town Board of Scottsburg Wants to Know All the Facts Before Action is Taken.

C. M. & W. CO. DENIES REPORTS.

Indianapolis Men Still Desire to Build the Line, But Are Having Some Troubles.

There is still considerable talk regarding the construction of an interurban line from Scottsburg to Madison but it seems that talk is about all there is to it and the prospects are not very promising that the sound of a traction whistle will be heard in that vicinity for sometime.

Attorney Hoffstadt and Martin of Indianapolis who represent promoters of that city are making a strenuous effort to secure a franchise from the Scottsburg Town Board. But everything is not as smooth as these gentlemen might desire. They told the town board a few days ago that they intended to build the traction line provided they could get the necessary franchise, and incidentally the required subsidy, but the board firmly informed the promoters that no franchise would be granted until they could show that the line would be built and that they had the money to finance the line.

The members of the board told the promoters that Mark Storen, the town attorney, would go to Indianapolis and make an investigation regarding the financial standing of the promoters himself, and if that report was satisfactory and all other conditions could be properly met they would then talk about granting the franchise.

The Madison papers published the story a few days ago in which it was stated that the Cincinnati, Madison and Western Co. had abandoned the Madison line and that it had been turned over to the promoters by the Messrs. Hoffstadt and Martin. On being interviewed regarding the report that the C. M. & W. Co. had given up the Madison project, Col. J. E. Greeley, who with the Tennis Co. as the principal stockholders said:

"The statement that we have given up the line to Madison, or that we would give it over to them or to any one is untrue. I did say that we wanted the Madison line and were still working to that end, and as proof, that we are now spending a lot of money on the Madison street railway, with the sole view of building the Madison line. I further said, and say now, that we did not want to stand in any way of the Scottsburg and Madison people of securing this line, on which we have already spent $32,000 in incorporation fees and surveys; that if these promoters could convince us, and would show us that they had the money to build and actually intended to build and would give bond to do so, then we would turn over our franchise to them, because it would bring us considerable business to Scottsburg for our Indianapolis and Louisville line.

"But nothing was, nor is now,

ISLAND THAT IS DREADED ALIKE BY THE SAILOR AND KEEPER

MONTREAL, QUEBEC.—That was a thrilling story which came from Halifax concerning the heroism of Mrs. Peter Borque, widow of the keeper of the lighthouse on Bird Rock in the Magdalen islands in the Gulf of St. Lawrence; but it is only one of the many tales of death and disaster that can be told of this barren and isolated bit of land.

After her husband had been washed overboard and drowned during a storm that threatened the demolition of the lighthouse Mrs. Borque kept the beacon burning for ten days, and thus probably saved several vessels from piling up on the rocks. Both she and her young baby suffered severely from exposure and hunger and she was so weak when rescued by the government steamship Seal that it was necessary to carry her on board. The authorities say that the courage of this woman is unsurpassed in the history of the Canadian lighthouse service.

"For a time I thought I would go mad," said Mrs. Borque after her rescue, "but I knew I had to do my duty. My baby suffered terribly from the cold, but I held it as tight as I could. It was a terrible task to crawl with her into the light chamber to keep the lamps trimmed, filled and burning. There was food, but you couldn't cook, and the baby cried constantly. Many times I heard the whistles, but they went away when they heard the bell ringing and saw the light."

The Magdalens are a group of 13 or 14 islands that lie almost in the center of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Their position makes them dangerous to vessels and so many are the wrecks thereabout that they have been styled by sailors the graveyard of the gulf.

Inaccessible Bird Rock.

Bird Rock is the most northerly island of the group and is little more than a huge rock rising abruptly out of the sea to a height of 140 feet, on which the Canadian government maintains one of the most inaccessible lighthouse stations of the Atlantic coast. Thousands of gannets, murres, kittiwakes and other sea fowl hover over it at all times, while beneath on its rocky ledges they have built myriads of nests in a series of tiers. The sides of the rock are very precipitous, and until a few years ago, when a roadway was blasted out of the solid rock leading to the top, all visitors and supplies were taken ashore by a cage lowered to the water and hoisted up by means of a windlass. The waves that generally break upon it are so tremendous that it is only possible to effect a landing in calm weather.

But it is such a wild and desolate spot that the man in charge of the lighthouse must make it his home during the entire year. Jean Quette, the first keeper, remained one summer with two assistants. Then the solitude preyed so upon his mind that he went insane. He recovered his reason only when he returned to civilization.

Keeper Perished With Son.

Pierre Wealen, the next keeper, managed to hold out for nine years. He came to a tragic end in 1880. In the spring of that year he, his son and an assistant ventured out on the ice surrounding the Bird Rock during a blinding snowstorm and lost their way. The assistant succeeded in returning to the lighthouse in safety. Wealen and his son perished.

Charles Chaisson, the third keeper of the lighthouse, was killed on August 13, 1881, by the premature discharge of a signal gun he was preparing to fire. His son and an assistant were badly injured in the same accident.

Telephore Turbide, the next keeper, remained in charge of the lighthouse for over 16 years, but even he did not escape the dangers of his calling. On June 24, 1891, he was putting home a charge in a signal gun when it exploded and blew off part of his right hand.

Another tragedy of Bird Rock occurred in March, 1897. In the spring of the year the hooded and harp seals come down on the ice from Labrador and Anticosti, and hundreds of men and boys from the Magdalens go out to hunt them for their pelts and oil. These seal hunts are attended by many dangers. A storm is liable to come up and drive the hunters out to sea on the moving ice. Snow covered fissures may mean death in case of a misstep. The danger of drowning is ever present.

Fatal Seal Hunt.

In March, 1897, Damien Cormier, an assistant keeper of the lighthouse, started out on a seal hunt accompanied by Charles Turbide, a lad of 17, and Arsene Turbide, cousin of the latter. Cormier's wife was left in charge of the lighthouse during his absence. They had noticed a large number of hair seals lying on the ice to the eastward, and proceeded in that direction, dragging behind them a small boat for use on the open glades of water.

The hunters reached the seals and made many killings. Finding it approaching they started their boat in the boat and headed toward it. But they had not noticed the threatening look of the sky now the terrible wind while engaged in the hunt.

TELEPHORE TURBIDE, KEEPER OF THE BIRD ROCK LIGHTHOUSE FOR 17 YEARS

furious snowstorm from the northwest struck down upon them suddenly.

Bending their heads lower the men plunged onward aimlessly. But there was no use in attempting to force their way through that endless drift. So Cormier and his companions determined to fight the blizzard just where they were. They halted and overturned the boat and made a sort of shelter.

Two Die in Storm.

The storm raged more violently. The cold became intense. An icy numbness seized the feet of Cormier and his two companions. In agony the men jumped up and down on the ice, beating their arms across their chests and pounding together their frozen hands. At length Cormier tumbled over in a heap. Charles Turbide fell unconscious at his side. Before daybreak both were dead.

Then Arsene Turbide went out into the snowy waste and looked about him. The storm had abated by this time. The snow had ceased to fall. He could see clearly now and quickly realized that it was impossible to return by the route he had come as the north wind had forced his ice floe far out in the gulf.

In the hazy direction of his home a rough sea tossed, piled up with ragged fragments of ice. No boat could live in such waters. His only chance for salvation lay in the help, frozen gulf toward the shore of Cape Breton, even though that shore was 70 miles away.

Arsene buried the bodies of his comrades underneath the upturned boat. Grasping the bludgeon he had used in the slaughter of seals he turned his face in the direction of Cape Breton and started on his long journey.

Made Brave Fight for Life.

All that cold day Arsene trudged over the rough ice with neither food nor drink. Sometimes he plunged through deep drifts, sometimes he glided more easily over windswept surfaces. As the day wore on he was assailed by frequent spells of drowsiness. But he was determined to fight and struggled to the end. When night fell he dozed as best he could, but always standing, for he knew that once he stretched himself upon the ice it would mean his last sleep.

The next morning he crept up on a seal and clubbed it to death, drank the warm blood. He did not know that his garments, his face and his hands were smeared with blood, but he did realize that he had secured renewed strength and courage to continue his journey. Late that afternoon he reached Meat Cove at Cape Breton, and scarcely able to drag himself along, staggered to the first house in sight. Opening the door, he entered, not knowing the appearance he presented to the inmates. They questioned him, but he could not speak. So thinking him either insane or a murderer, they thrust him out and slammed the door behind him.

Found Refuge Too Late.

Arsene struggled on again. When the door was opened to him at the next house, he rushed in headlong, flung himself down before a fire and at once fell into a sound slumber. When he awoke he narrated his story, and then word was telegraphed to Grindstone Island, one of the Magdalen group, to send speedy relief to the woman who had been left alone at the lighthouse on Bird Rock.

Arsene did not recover from his experience and within a fortnight died from its effects.

Many stories might be told of the other Magdalen islands. For many years they have been inhabited by a few thousand natives who are descended from the Acadians who settled in Champlain and De Mont. Since the first settlement in 1763 generations of the same families have raised meager crops in the valleys and fed sheep and cattle on the high cone-shaped hills which form a prominent feature of an insular landscape. Year after year fathers and sons have gone out upon the white capped waters of the gulf for the cod, mackerel and lobster on which their livelihood depends. Ancient language and customs prevail among these people, and the spinning wheel and hand loom still provide homespun for both men and women.

Hard and Precarious Existence.

In seasons when the fishing is good the average Magdalener makes sufficient money to supply his wants. In poor years they sometimes suffer dire distress. During the "Great Misery" in the winter of 1882, and again in 1897, food became so scarce that the Canadian government was obliged to send supplies to the islands to prevent a famine.

The inhabitants of the Magdalens are completely isolated from the world for six months in the year. In the summer a small steamer subsidized by the government piles semi-weekly between the islands and the mainland of Nova Scotia. During the long winters this service must be abandoned, and persons on the island remain there until the boat resumes its trips in the spring.

The telegraph gives them the news that is going on in the world during their isolation, but of course there can be no exchange of letters. Sometimes this mode of communication fails, as in 1910, when the cable to the mainland broke and could not be repaired for weeks. The natives in this instance resorted to very ancient methods. A heavy barrel containing 30 or 40 letters sealed in cans was dropped overboard in the waters of the gulf and trusted to fate. Ten days afterward the tide carried it to the mainland 60 miles away and the letters were sent to their addressees. Unfortunately the southern drift of the gulf prevented any answers from being sent in reply.

STRIVE FOR PLEASANT VOICE

No Part of the Personality More Worthy of Careful Attention and Cultivation.

There is no power of love so hard to keep as a kind voice; but it is hard to get it and keep it in the right tone.

One must start in youth, and be on the watch night and day, while at work and while at play to get and keep a voice which shall speak at all times the thought of a kind heart.

But this is the time when a sharp voice is more apt to be acquired. You often hear boys and girls say words at play with a quick sharp tone, almost like the snap of a whip. If any of them get vexed you hear a voice which sounds as if it were made up of a snarl, a whine, and a bark.

Such a voice speaks worse than the heart feels. It shows more ill will in tone than in words. It is often in mirth that one gets a voice or a tone which is sharp, and which sticks to him through life, and stirs up ill will and grief and falls like a drop of gall on the listener.

Some people have a sharp home voice for us and keep their best voice for those they meet elsewhere. We would say: "Use your best voice at home."

A kind voice is a lark's song to heart and home. It is to the heart what light is to the eye.

Fear Damage by Lightning.

Careful analysis of Prussian lightning statistics shows that damage due to lightning has markedly decreased in the cities in recent years. This decrease is attributed to the great extension of overhead telephone wires; and it is anticipated that the recent general change to underground conduits will lead to an increase in lightning damage.

The Secret of Soft White Hands and Arms

Only with KIRK'S FLAKE (White) Soap can you be sure to have your clothes wash easier and quicker and whiter than ever before and at the same time feel perfectly sure that they are not being rotted with chemicals and "dirt starters" and that your hands will be soft and white as when you began your work.

Use it anywhere in the household or for the roughest work in the laundry and kitchen. Equally effective in hot or cold—hard or soft water.

KIRK'S FLAKE WHITE SOAP

Made of pure, sweet, aromatic vegetable oils only and costs no more than ordinary soaps.

Why experiment with cheap grease soaps that burn the hands and destroy the clothes? Good soap is cheaper than new clothes.

The antiseptic qualities of KIRK'S FLAKE (White) are well known; everything washed with it becomes clean, sweet and sanitary. It contains no adulteration.

CROTHERSVILLE.

Miss Pauline Schneider is visiting Miss Bessie Deputy this week.

Frank Gillan, Allen Swope, James McCoy, Harve Lewellyn, Jacob Lewis, Jonathan Kelley, Oliver Buckles, Curg Silence, James H. Garrett, William Robbins, George W. Seaver, George Kelley, William Y. Brady, Henry Banister, William Starks, Henry Rider, Tunis Garard, Ed Rider, Wert Lett, Oscar Lewis, George Lewis, Charles Hunt, Elmer Wilson and James P. Rider were business visitors here Saturday.

Misses Ona and Gertrude Peak, the Austin milliners were here Tuesday.

Jacob Slarp, Frank White, George Wetzel, Cecil Starks, Pressie Morrison, Charles Lewis, Elmer Meeks, Solon Harrod, Wm. Perine, Elijah Briner, Meade Stewart, and Wilmer Bridges were in town Tuesday.

William Goecker was a business visitor at Seymour Tuesday.

It is reported that Saers & Co. have sold their flouring mill at this place to the Crescent Milling Co. which was incorporated just a short time ago. The new company intends to do some extensive repairing and improving and make the flour mill at this place one of the best in the county.

Rev. Moore the pastor of the M. E. church delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the Crothersville High School Sunday evening. He was assisted by Rev. Limbacher of the German church. Special music by the junior class. The house was filled to its utmost capacity and many were compelled to return home.

French Soldiers' New Helmet.

M. Detaille has reported to the French war office on the new "casque" for the infantry. He has reverted to a modification of the fifteenth century helmet, known as the "Bourguignotte." If the new equipment is adopted the French infantryman will wear in war a helmet of steel with a ridge of bronze over the round of the head. The front and back will be identical, so that it can be worn either way. At each side is a head of a lion of bronze to fix the ends of the chin strap, and on the left side a tricolor cockade is used as an ornament. The weight will be nearly 21 pounds.

The French authorities have not observed that one of the first things that our men did in South Africa was to lose their heavy helmets and obtain, in the mysterious way soldiers do these things, a soft felt hat or a cap. If, according to Gilbert, "that man is but an ass, who fights in a cuirass," equally foolish is the soldier of today who goes marching in a steel helmet weighing a couple of pounds.—London Chronicle

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur
Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If you have dandruff, or if your hair is thin or turning gray, get a bottle of this remedy from your druggist to-day, and see what it will do for you. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Andrews Drug Co.

For Women Who Care

Of course you use an antiseptic in your family and in the care of your own person, and you want the best.

Instead of what you have been using such as liquid or tablet antiseptics or peroxide, won't you please try Paxtine, a concentrated antiseptic powder to be dissolved in water as needed.

Paxtine is more economical, more cleansing, more germicidal and more healing than anything you ever used.

Paxtine
ANTISEPTIC

In the toilet—to cleanse and whiten the teeth, remove tartar and prevent decay. To disinfect the mouth, destroy disease germs, and purify the breath. To keep artificial teeth and bridgework clean and odorless. To remove nicotine from the teeth and purify the breath after smoking. To eradicate perspiration odors by sponge bathing.

As a medicinal agent for local treatment of feminine ills where pelvic catarrh, inflammation and ulceration exist, nothing equals hot douches of Paxtine. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co. has been regularly advising their patients to use it because of its extraordinary cleansing, healing and germicidal power. For this purpose alone Paxtine is worth its weight in gold. Also for nasal catarrh, sore throat, inflamed eyes, cuts and wounds. All druggists, 25 and 50 cents a box. Trial box and testimony of 31 women free on request. THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

Stubborn Case

"I was under the treatment of two doctors," writes Mrs. R. L. Phillips, of Indian Valley, Va., "and they pronounced my case a very stubborn one, of womanly weakness. I was not able to sit up, when I commenced to take Cardui.

I used it about one week, before I saw much change. Now, the severe pain, that had been in my side for years, has gone, and I don't suffer at all. I am feeling better than in a long time, and cannot speak too highly of Cardui."

TAKE The CARDUI Woman's Tonic

Heart to Heart Talks.

"WHAT'S THE USE?"

Why is man born with the closed fists? Because he wants to grasp everything. And why does he die with palms outstretched? To show that he takes nothing along with him.—Talmud.

The quaint, suggestive saying of the Talmud is a good one for our day—the day of grasping commercialism.

This is the day of "money madness." There is method in this madness too. Note the cunning of the trust magnate who gathers to himself. See how, like a great spider, the railway king weaves his converging webs of transportation. Watch the grabbers of special privilege.

The closed fist! Who is it—Ruskin, I think—pictures the money mad as lunatics grasping at the straws of their cell matting and at the moles in the air of their dusty prisons, trying to change these into gold?

Some steal from men.

Some steal from earth and water and air.

Some sell their souls to the devil.

How the marching chorus of the money pirates, the grunting, sweaty chorus, must vex the ear of Omnipotence. Listen to it—

Grab, grab, grab!

Poor fools! Yet a little while and the closed fists shall be opened by the strong hand of Death. Whose then shall these things be?

The lawyers will revel in the loot of it.

The heirs will quarrel over it and hate one another.

Harpies will fatten on the heaped up funds, and prodigal hands will sow the stuff broadcast.

Even now lustful hands and watchful eyes wait for the first symptoms when the hard closed fists of the lucre loving lunatics shall relax their itching palms.

Poor fools! Our sententious Anglo-Saxon phrase puts the lesson of the Talmud in fewer but striking words. As the phrase has it—

"There are no pockets in shrouds."

Poor fools! Soon the grabbing hands shall lose their cunning, and soon the lying tongues shall cleave to the roof of the mouth.

In the language of the street—"What's the use?"

For soreness of the muscles whether induced by violent exercise or injury, Chamberlain's Liniment is excellent. This liniment is also highly esteemed for the relief it affords in cases of rheumatism. Sold by all dealers.

FIGHTING MACHINES.

It is a half century since Ericsson's Monitor was launched. We have just passed the anniversary of that event. It was an evolution in the art of naval armament which at the time seemed to promise a permanent change in theory and practice. What the Monitor did for us in the crisis which it was designed to meet is matter of history, says the Boston Post. That low-lying, vicious craft was perhaps the salvation of our navy. But what a change in the years that have since elapsed! The Monitor type has gone to the scrap heap, and the massive, towering, stupendous dreadnought has taken its place. Torpedobats have come in, followed by torpedo destroyers. And the range of naval operations has been extended. Every maritime nation has equipped itself with submarines, and the very latest is a submarine that can fight above the water and descend with safety after delivering the fire of its battery. Under the water and above the land in the air the power of destruction is extending. What is the end of this development of the means of devastation? Logically, is it not the establishment of universal peace as an international duty?

What is needed by most men who have passed middle age is more physical exercise. Their younger days have as a rule constituted a period of physical activity. If their occupations have not supplied sufficient activity they have danced or rowed or ridden horseback or run races, or in some way found a method of providing a considerable amount of exercise, and this has developed a surplus of reserve energy which is maintained while continuing this activity; but after they have grown into middle life, and through the press of business or an inclination to yield to the temptation to give more of their time to some other sort of pleasure, they neglect the physical exercise they have been accustomed to, and as a consequence this reserve force is drawn upon to meet the requirements of an active intellectual force, and in a few years this becomes exhausted and death is the natural result.

The report comes from Pittsburgh that the sum of one hundred thousand dollars is being expended in experiments to determine the edible properties of petroleum and turn them to commercial use. It is said to be certain that elements of petroleum can be transformed into fatty acid. These in turn combined with glycerine, it is asserted, will form a new food. It is said palatable petroleum "jellies" and "sauces" will be the first products to be made for general use. There are people whose gustatory anticipations will not be aroused by the prospect of petroleum food products. There are others who will be keen to notice the fact that while there is talk of petroleum as a food product the price of the crude oil lately has undergone a heavy advance.

THE QUIET HOUR

The Sabbath as a Foretaste and Opportunity

THE weekly day of rest was designed to be a type and foretaste of the reward which God has promised to those who love and serve him; in another life, where they shall be freed from the temptations and trials and perplexities and weaknesses which beset them here. Therefore the Sabbath should be a day set apart from all anxieties and perplexities, that the heart and mind may be free for worship, and for study of the word of God, and for acts of loving service.

It should be a day on which all Christians "give diligence to enter" into the rest which God has promised to his people here and now, the rest of perfect trust in God, based on complete submission to the will of God and full assurance that God will care for us and use us and bless us in his own way. (See Heb. 4: 1-11.)

Entering Into Rest.

The writer of the epistle to the Hebrews calls this rest of perfect trust a Sabbathism (a Sabbath rest), and says "Let us fear, therefore, lest haply, a promise being left of entering into his rest, any one of you should seem to have come short of it." He is not speaking of Heaven; for he says, "We who have believed do enter into rest"—not, we shall enter. It follows then that if we have not entered into rest, if we have not learned to live without anxiety or worry, if we have not taken possession of the inheritance of peace guaranteed to us by the last will and testament of our elder brother (John 14: 27), then our faith is defective. We have not believed in God sufficiently to find peace by resting in his love and in his wisdom. We have not believed in God sufficiently to accept his will for us as the highest possible good, and to be sure that he is causing all things to work together for good to us.

Forerunner of Peace.

Until we can have that assurance, we cannot have peace and cannot expect to do the best work of which we are capable.

We cannot have the joy of possessing "a heart at leisure from itself, to soothe and sympathize." One of the best uses to which the Sabbath can be put, then, is to study God's promises, and his methods of dealing with his people as set before us in the Bible, and to seek full communion with God in prayer, in order that our faith may be strengthened, and that we may be able to give the holy spirit full possession of our hearts and put our lives unhesitatingly into God's keeping and under his control.

To waste the Sabbath by any frivolous or unworthy use of its sacred hours is to squander an inheritance that is worth more than the whole fortune of a Rockefeller or a Carnegie.

GIVING TESTIMONY IS DUTY

Every Christian Heart Called On for Utterance of its Perfect Love and Joy.

It is a grievous mistake to smother the suggestions of the heart, to silence the words of love which spring to the lips, to deny ourselves and our kindred the expression of admiration, sympathy and affection. They who fail to tell their love to Christ and who withhold from him the tokens of allegiance and devotion, exhibit this fault in its saddest and guiltiest form; they do their worst towards quenching the sublimest passion which can glow in the human heart, and on whose pure flame depends the mightiest consequences. Great and inevitable, indeed, is the revenge of the wronged instinct. Joseph consecrated for Jesus a special tomb; yet Joseph will never rank with John who continued with the master in his temptations, who leaned upon his breast, shared his sorrows and stood by his cross. Nicodemus, as though conscious that he had serious arrears to make up, brought a hundred pounds' weight of spices to embalm the sacred body; yet will never rank with Mary, who before the whole company broke the box of spikenard on the head and feet of her living, loving Lord. The true Christian heart, here and now, aches to voice its love and joy, and to choke its utterance, to deny its testimony and service, is to quench the spirit, or at best to leave a few fading sparks of what ought to be a quenchless fire.—Rev. William L. Watkinson, D. D.

Good Faith Essential.

It is the utmost importance that leaders in church affairs should adhere rigidly to a high moral standard concerning the honesty and good faith of their public acts. To advocate a course of proceeding that is essentially lawless in its attitude, to disregard ordinary standards of honor and courtesy, to wink at shady financial measures is a course which men of the world may excuse in one another, but which they will not condone in Christians. We are glad that this is true. It is a tonic for certain saints who might otherwise be prone to "wabble" that they are obliged to "provide things honest in the sight of all men"—especially of "them that are without."—Christian Advocate.

Valuable Manuscript Left by Colonel Burnaby Defied the Efforts of Experts.

It was stated at the time of Colonel Burnaby's death that he had left behind him the manuscript of a novel, for which there was considerable competition among the publishers.

This is quite true. The manuscript, a bulky parcel, was handed to me with discretionary power either to publish it myself or to use it in connection with the proposed biography.

Here a singular and, as it finally proved, a fatal obstacle presented itself. Familiar for many years with Burnaby's handwriting, I could not after diligent endeavor make out more than a sentence here and there on the crowded page of manuscript.

Burnaby's writing was, possibly with the exception of Dean Stanley's, the worst I ever saw. It looked as if before sitting down to write a letter he had pulled a twig out of the hedge, mixed a little blacking and then gone ahead.

He wrote the whole of his "Ride to Khiva" and his "Ride on Horseback Through Asia Minor" with his own hand. But before they reached the printer they were fairly written out by a copyist.

The hapless man used to make out as much as he could, then leave blanks, for filling up which he had to seek the assistance of the author. Sometimes there were more blanks in a page than words.

Despairing of making anything of the manuscript of the novel, it was submitted to a publisher, who turned upon it his most skillful decipherer. Neither head nor tail could be made of the manuscript and the intention of publishing the novel was consequently abandoned.—Sir H. W. Lucey, in Cornhill Magazine.

Her Kitchen Alarm.

A New York man was startled last Sunday to hear an alarm clock in action, for the hour was precisely 1 p. m.

"I thought the alarm clock was up stairs," he said to his wife. Without replying, she hurried to the kitchen. Soon returning, she explained her haste. "I made a suet pudding this morning," she said, "and put it into the oven at nine o'clock. The recipe I used stated that it should steam four hours and no longer. I was afraid I might forget it, so I brought down the alarm clock and set it to go off at one. The plan worked beautifully, for the pudding is done just right."

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Miscellaneous Shower.

Miss Alma Windhorst was honor guest at a miscellaneous shower given for her last night at the home of Misses Lisetta and Lula Alberring on South Chestnut street. The evening was pleasantly spent with games and music and all enjoyed the hospitality of the home.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Miss Windhorst received a number of useful presents from her friends.

Entertained.

Mrs. Lawson Williams entertained the members of Mrs. Joseph Harsh's Home Department Class yesterday afternoon at her home on East Seventh Street. Thirty-two of the members were present. A chorus of girls sang several songs which were appreciated by the members of the class.

For Mrs. Hadley.

Mrs. W. M. Casey entertained the Birthday Club at an afternoon party Wednesday in honor of Mrs. F. H. Hadley.

A dainty luncheon was served during the afternoon which was pleasantly spent by those present.

Paper Chase.

John DeMatteo will entertain the members of the Sophomore and senior classes tomorrow evening with a paper chase.
